Note: This game contains sexually explicit situations and themes and is not intended for people under the age of 18. This game contains simulations of acts which may be considered illegal or immoral. The character sheets contain explicit sexual acts which have been written with the sole purpose of trying to squick the players.

Choose one: I understand. I am playing the wrong game and will sign up for something else.

The main plot of the game will involve all the characters working together to solve a problem. There will also be interpersonal plots and roleplayed sex. Also, there will be a “meeting of the universes” roleplaying plot. The main plot will include:

- * an engineering puzzle with some player interaction
- * a chemical/potions puzzle with some player interaction
- * a research puzzle
- * a “fix everything” spell that will include player negotiations and roleplaying. This will not involve solving an actual puzzle.
- * fighting monsters, which will be simulated in slow-motion, using an extremely simple, non-intrusive combat system

Puzzle are actual puzzles, like Sudoku or mastermind. Exactly like Sudoku or mastermind. If you don't like solving puzzles please choose characters who are not involved in those plots. Characters should be able to help with puzzles outside of their proficiencies, although the game mechanics will not be on their side.

Sex will be simulated with roleplaying with storytelling being the very basic level. If you are uncomfortable describing your character having a sexual encounter, you are playing the wrong game. Regardless, we will also note the chance the characters below will be involved in sexual activities.

Please indicate which characters below you would like to play. Please make any favorites or rankings clear. Note that this is the sole source of information we will use when casting you. We will not take into account preferred allied players or anything like that. There are 16 of you and you will all be working together one way or another.
