

FanFic

It was all coming together. They were all coming to see her, Mary Sue Johnson, and soon Mary would get to meet all her idols. The base of her spine tingled at the very thought of meeting them all.

Mary was normally a shy girl. The other kids in high school tended to pick on her, even though she was the smartest and prettiest girl in the class. She recently turned eighteen and would be graduating soon, but perhaps not soon enough. Colleges were already competing for her. She would be so glad to leave this small town.

Of course, Mary Sue had her secrets. For one thing, she is a Slayer, one of a select few of master vampire hunters. Mary was unmatched in physical combat, but unfortunately nobody in town was allowed to know her secret.

A Hellmouth has recently opened in Mount Laurel, New Jersey, and for every Hellmouth a Slayer also arises. Mary Sue is that Slayer, but even she cannot close a Hellmouth by herself.

But that was only the first of Mary Sue's secrets. Mary Sue is also a witch, a powerful one, perhaps the most powerful witch in all of the United States. Many wizarding schools have vied for her admission, but she turned them all down.

She was even offered admission to Hogwarts, the most prestigious Wizarding school in the world. Still she turned them down, preferring to master her craft on her own, and she is quite good too. Perhaps she is the best.

And more than that, Mary Sue is unmatched in her knowledge of future technology. She has won several Nobel prizes in science and is working on a number of theoretical designs (which she will recognize, of course, being implemented in tricorders, phasers, and the like). Mary Sue enjoys tinkering with this sort of thing.

And with the Hellmouth opening up, all sorts of people are coming to investigate. The Watcher's Council will likely send Buffy Summers and her crew from the west coast to investigate. Hogwarts will send a delegation as well. And Mary's long range scanners have picked up the USS Enterprise orbiting Earth.

They are all coming, all of the heroes Mary Sue has dreamed of meeting. And she will get to see them all. It's like being in some fabulous story of your – her – her own creation! This will certainly be an interesting time.

The Others

Technically you haven't met any of them yet, but you know who they are.

Buffy Summers: She is the most well known Slayer out of Sunnyvale, California. She's bringing a group of her friends with her.

Willow Rosenberg: She is a witch who is a close friend of Buffy's. She used to date Xander.

Alexander "Xander" Harris: He's the "everyman" of Buffy's gang. He used to date Willow, but he's now dating a former demon named Anya. That doesn't make him off limits of course.

Angel: He's a vampire who used to date Buffy. He's hot. And he's twinkling in the sunlight. You find that very seductive.

Captain Kirk: He is Captain of the USS Enterprise. He is commanding and powerful.

Mr. Spock: He is an alien from the planet Vulcan. He's the first officer of the Enterprise.

Dr. Leonard McCoy: He is the chief medical officer of the USS Enterprise. He can be quite the curmudgeon.

Lieutenant Uhura: She's the communication officer of the Enterprise.

Montgomery "Scotty" Scott: He is the chef engineer of the Enterprise. You wouldn't mind discussing comparative technologies with him.

Professor Severus Snape: He is the evil Defense Against the Dark Arts teacher from Hogwarts. He exudes an air of menace, but if Professor Dumbledore can trust him, so can you.

Harry Potter: He is the chosen one and will some day defeat Voldemort.

Ronald Weasley: He is Harry's best friend, and quite attractive despite his bumbling.

Hermione Granger: She is Harry's other best friend. She's very smart.

Draco Malfoy: He wants to be evil, but you can tell there's a good guy down deep there.

Skills and Stuff

Combat: Excellent

Research: Excellent

Magic: Excellent

Engineering: Excellent

Sex: Excellent

Excellent Plus: You may make one of your skills the secret level above Excellent for one challenge. When you do this, the GMs will tell you the name of the Skill. If it is in combat against a monster, you count as two Excellent fighters. Two uses: ☐ ☐

Pull an item out of your ass (not literally): You may obtain a plot relevant item. Two uses: ☐ ☐