

The world is ending, at least as everyone knows it. With the Resonance Virus running rampant among the population and having developed an immunity to earlier cures, an assortment of the elite and those who happened to be near them at the time have been herded into bunkers across the nation. At one such bunker, scientists who were involved in the Resonance Project have been working around the clock on a new cure. As the hospital ward in the underground bunker is sealed, all anyone can pray for is that they will be among those who survive this apocalypse.

Damn it! You knew it was going to get bad after Bearcreek.

It wasn't too long after that incident that reports of Resonance outbreaks started cropping up all over the country. Makes sense, since Morrow sent out agents to spread the "good word." Given Morrow's tactics, it's hardly a surprise that words weren't all they were spreading. But your superiors at the Bureau didn't want to believe it. Too secure in their cushy jobs to see the real danger that was quickly about to overtake the country.

The Resonance plague is here. It is probably destroying American minds at this very moment. And apparently, the emergency plan is to take 50 people and stick them in a bunker.

This is a plan? The apocalypse is here, and they're saving 50 people at a time?