

Suggested debrief questions:

- How do you feel after this experience?
- What did you find surprising or challenging about this game?
- How did this experience change or challenge how you think about consent in life or in LARP?