ORGANIZER

You start the game by saying “hey guys, lets order pizza!”

You get to organize everyone, phone in the order, and take the blame from unhappy whiners. However, you have coupons, and don’t actually have to pay for your share of the pizza, so you get to double all your points.

YOUR PLACE

Say, this is your place. You get to eat any leftover pizza (that you like) for breakfast tomorrow. Woo hoo! However, it truly bums you out to throw away pizza with yucky toppings.

No MONEY!

Whoops—you forgot, you’re out of cash. You’ll have to convince someone to lend you some. [Everyone who has money can loan enough to one other person.]

LIKE

You like the person to your right. You really want to impress him/her so that they like you too. Do what you can to help them get what they want.

DISLIKE

Count two people to your right. You don't like this person. He/she keeps pissing you off, and they look funny too. Do what you can to see that they don't get whatever they want.

CHIPS!

Return to deck and draw again if you draw this on startup.

You have been stuffing your face with snack chips for the past few minutes. You want two fewer pieces of pizza. If you end up wanting no pizza and pizza is ordered, you do not have to eat whatever you ordered.

DIET!

Aargh! You forgot all about your stupid diet! Ignore all other cards—you can't eat any pizza. Moreover, you don't want anyone else around you eating pizza (misery loves company).

Lie, squabble, turn on the TV, do what you can to keep any pizza from being ordered.
